

Graduate Diploma of Tropical Medicine and Hygiene

JAMES COOK
UNIVERSITY
AUSTRALIA

Ready today for tomorrow

jcu.edu.au

Experience has no substitute

JCU's Graduate Diploma of Tropical Medicine and Hygiene degree has a strong focus on the prevention of disease and the control of communicable diseases in tropical contexts. You will gain advanced theoretical and technical knowledge in the disciplines of tropical medicine and hygiene, particularly in the areas of epidemiology,

Career Opportunities

JCU Tropical Medicine and Hygiene graduates are equipped with expert knowledge and practical skills necessary to pursue work in tropical environments.

Graduates specialise in travel medicine, infectious diseases, and remote practice. You could find employment in State and Commonwealth Government organisations, health care and community settings, non-profit and international organisations. Work in roles to control disease, protect the health of people living in tropical areas, and promote health and wellbeing.

Postgraduate coursework applications

Apply directly to JCU, either by a form you download, complete and return, or by using the Online Application Portal.

Your application must reach us before the deadline for your course.

REQUIREMENTS

Postgraduate courses will usually require completion of an appropriate undergraduate degree for entry. For this course, students require an undergraduate health degree. You'll need to include certified copies of qualifications and academic records with your application. For some programs, appropriate work experience or equivalent qualifications will be considered.

The entry requirements for each course are included on the Apply now page for the course.

FURTHER READING

To find out more, call 1800 246 446 or contact the Student Enquiry Centre.

